

BLIND SNAKES

Good eyesight is not important to blind snakes as they spend most of the time underground. Only rarely are species such as this Ramphotyphlops polygrammicus encountered on the surface, usually at night, after rain. Ramphotyphlops polygrammicus is the brown one on the left. The bluish snake on the right is a different species: Ramphotyphlops sp.